

About External Red Teaming by Offseq

In Eleving Group security resilience is at the core of what we do across 17 markets and more than 1.8M customers. Partnering with OffSeq on a red team engagement gave us a genuine adversarial perspective that went well beyond a traditional penetration test.

Their team demonstrated deep technical expertise, operated with realism and precision, and communicated findings in a way that was both clear and actionable. We came away more resilient and better informed.
